Wednesday, September 4, 2002, 6:15-7:45 pm

Ubuntu Village – German Pavilion at Tensile 1

Johannesburg

The Jo'burg Memo, product of an unique assembly of 16 activists, intellectuals, politicians and businesspeople from across the world, is arguably the most comprehensive and ambitious civil society contribution to this Global Summit. It analyzes It has been received with excitement at presentations in many capitals and at the PrepComs of this summit.

The Jo'burg Memo provides a critical analysis of the 10 years since Rio, its merits and failures. It develops a Johannesburg Agenda for fairness in a fragile world, and presents a set of proposals for this Summit and the years ahead.

At the time of this debate, the summit will be over. In this debate, we want to discuss the outcomes of the summit from the perspective present in the Jo'burg Memo. Did the summit strengthen citizens and livelihood rights? How did he contribute to fairness between the globalized rich and the localized poor? Did we advance towards "Fair wealth"?
